- PRIVACY POLICY

Your rights pertaining your data

If you have left comments on the Website, you can request to receive an exported file of the personal data we hold about you, including any data you have provided to us. You can also request that we rectify or erase any personal data we hold about you. Please send your request to gdpr@themodern.press

- The right to withdraw consent
- The right of Access
- The right to erasure
- The right to rectification
- The right to data portability
- The right to object
- Notification of data breaches
- The right to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority

- RIGHT TO ERASURE REQUEST FORM

SECTION 6: Declaration

Please note that any attempt to mislead may result in prosecution.

I confirm that I have read and understood the terms of this subject access form and certify that the information given in this application to TheModern.Press is true. I understand that it is necessary for TheModern.Press to confirm my/the data subject's identity and it may be necessary to obtain more detailed information in order to locate the correct personal data.

- PRIVACY STATEMENT FOR USERS REGISTERED

1. What is the Identity Management Service?

The Company's Identity Management Service (IMS) provides a common way for users to register or be registered for access to a number of different Company information systems or services (referred to hereafter as sites).

You are affected by this privacy statement if you use the Company authentication service (Login) when logging into the sites, as it means that you have been registered in IMS.

Users include the Company's own staff, personnel of other organisations and members of the public.

Registration may occur:

- at the initiative of a user or of the organisation that the user belongs to or represents
- by means of an automatic transfer of information from the user's organisation to the Commission
- by means of direct entry of the relevant information by the user

IMS includes facilities for authenticating registered users and controlling their access to Company sites.

In each case, the personal data that is recorded is governed by Regulation (EU) 2018/1725.

IMS falls under the responsibility of the Executive Chairman, Ö. Emre Ekşi. Further responsibility lies with each processor of the information.

Individual Company sites that rely on IMS for commonly required personal data may nevertheless collect additional personal data themselves. This is covered by the sites' own privacy statements.

3. Who has access to your information and to whom is it disclosed?

By registering yourself, you authorise the disclosure of the details you have entered in the user registration system to any site that you access after having given your email address and password. If you were registered by your organisation, your consent is assumed to have been given (implicitly or explicitly) for the transfer of your details.

The details of the activity associated with your account are never passed to any company other site by TheModern.Press.

The Company will not divulge your information to third parties outside the TheModern.Press with the following exceptions:

- the duly authorised support unit or help desk responsible for the domain in which you are registered
- duly authorised bodies

To preserve your privacy, you can choose (through an option on the login screen) to be notified whenever a relying party requests your identity - you will have the option to cancel the operation before any information is passed. However, this may render the application inaccessible to you. If, having logged in into EU Login, you wish to access sites anonymously, you can do one of the following before connecting to the site in question:

- open a new browser session and use it to access the site
- logout from the authentication service
- disable cookies in your browser options

Note that behaviour varies from browser to browser and may affect the results of these operations.

If you need to access the site that requires you to register and authenticate, but you do not wish it to have access to the details you supplied in order to gain access to another Company's site, we suggest you create a separate account for this purpose. This will require you to provide a distinct e-mail address, which need not be traceable to you personally. Of course, this may deny you access to certain sites which require proof of identity.

Your password is stored only in an irreversible form. Apart from your password, the service administrators can view all of the data pertaining to a particular user. This helps them to perform duties such as helping users with problems and diagnosing suspected security incidents.

7. Contact Information

If you wish to ask questions or post complaints about the service with respect to the use of your personal information, you should follow the contact link that is shown on each Identity Management service page or write to the following address:

<https://www.themodern.press/privacy-policy/>

• DATA PROCESSING AGREEMENT

1.1.8.2 an onward transfer of Company Personal Data from a Contracted Processor to a Subcontracted Processor, or between two establishments of a Contracted Processor, in each case, where such transfer would be prohibited by Data Protection Laws (or by the terms of data transfer agreements put in place to address the data transfer restrictions of Data Protection Laws);

1.1.9 "Services" means the 'data-management' services the Company provides.

1.1.10 "Subprocessor" means any person appointed by or on behalf of Processor to process Personal Data on behalf of the Company in connection with the Agreement.

13. Governing Law and Jurisdiction

13.1 This Agreement is governed by the laws of England and Wales.

13.2 Any dispute arising in connection with this Agreement, which the Parties will not be able to resolve amicably, will be submitted to the exclusive jurisdiction of the courts of London.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, this Agreement is entered into with effect from the date first set out below.

• COOKIES POLICY

What are cookies?

A cookie is a small text file that a website stores on your computer or mobile device when you visit the site.

First party cookies are cookies set by the website you're visiting. Only that website can read them. In addition, a website might potentially use external services, which also set their own cookies, known as third-party cookies.

Persistent cookies are cookies saved on your computer and that are not deleted automatically when you quit your browser, unlike a session cookie, which is deleted when you quit your browser.

Every time you visit the Commission's websites, you will be prompted to accept or refuse cookies.

The purpose is to enable the site to remember your preferences (such as user name, language, etc.) for a certain period of time.

That way, you don't have to re-enter them when browsing around the site during the same visit.

Cookies can also be used to establish anonymised statistics about the browsing experience on our sites.

How do we use cookies?

European Commission websites mostly use "first-party cookies". These are cookies set and controlled by the Commission, not by any external organisation.

However, to view some of our pages, you will have to accept cookies from external organisations.

The 3 types of first-party cookie we use are to:

- store visitor preferences
- make our websites operational
- gather analytics data (about user behaviour)

Visitor preferences

There are no cookies that we can reach and determine; in other words cookies for Visitor are not used.

Operational cookies

There are some cookies that we have to include in order for certain web pages to function. For this reason, they do not require your consent. In particular:

- authentication cookies
- technical cookies required by certain IT systems

Authentication cookies

These are stored when you log in to the site, using our authentication service \(Login\). When you do this, you accept the associated privacy policy.

Analytics cookies

We use these purely for internal research on how we can improve the service we provide for all our users.

The cookies simply assess how you interact with our website – as an anonymous user (the data gathered does not identify you personally).

Also, this data is not shared with any third parties or used for any other purpose. The anonymised statistics could be shared with contractors working on communication projects under contractual agreement with the Commission.

However, you are free to refuse these types of cookies – either via the cookie banner you’ll see on the first page you visit or at <https://www.themodern.press/privacy-policy/>

We use Google Analytics cookies to collect information about how visitors use our website. These cookies collect information in the aggregate to give us insight into how our website is being used. We anonymise IP addresses in Google Analytics, and the anonymised data is transmitted to and stored by Google on servers in the United States. Google may also transfer this information to third parties where required to do so by law, or where such third parties process the information on Google’s behalf. Google will not associate your IP address with any other data held by Google. The following table has more information about these cookies.

Cookie Name	Source	Expiry	Purpose	How to Block
_ga	Google Analytics	2 years from set/update	These cookies are used to collect information about how visitors use the ENAEE website. We use the information to help us improve our site through the collection of anonymised information (e.g., number of visitors to website and where visitors have come to the site from).	Open the Cookie Consent Tool to set your preferences or delete these cookies through your browser settings.
_gid	Google Analytics	24-hours
_utma	Google Analytics	2 years from set/update
_utmz	Google Analytics	6-months from set/update

You may install a Google Analytics Opt-out Browser Add-on by going here: <https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout>.

Third-party cookies

There is no display content from external providers on our pages.

How can you manage cookies?

You can delete all cookies that are already on your device by clearing the browsing history of your browser.

Removing cookies from your device

You can delete all cookies that are already on your device by clearing the browsing history of your browser.

This will remove all cookies from all websites you have visited.

Managing site-specific cookies

For more detailed control over site-specific cookies, check the privacy and cookie settings in your preferred browser

Blocking cookies

You can set most modern browsers to prevent any cookies being placed on your device, but you may then have to manually adjust some preferences every time you visit a site/page. And some services and functionalities may not work properly at all (e.g. profile logging-in).

Managing our analytics cookies

You can manage your preferences concerning cookies from Europa Analytics on the dedicated following pages.
